

For Immediate Release
April 21, 2009
Information: Jennifer Malley
206.328.2200 x262
jmalley@pratt.org

Pratt Fine Arts Center Announces New Spring Into Art Program June 14 - 20, 2009

Pratt Fine Arts Center invites the public to participate in its affordable Spring Into Art classes taking place the week of June 14 - 20, 2009. These four-hour classes, including glassblowing, printmaking, welding and more, provide students with an opportunity to make art in Pratt's professionally-equipped studios.

"Our four-hour Step Into Art classes have been very popular, so we will now be offering them twice a year, in the spring and fall," said Director of Education Tracey Fugami. "These mini-classes are a great way for students to try out a new art medium and will provide complete beginners and experienced artists alike everything Pratt offers: outstanding instructors, a supportive environment and equipment-rich studios designed to bring out their inner artist."

Register for these classes online or download the Spring Into Art brochure.

What: Spring Into Art Mini-Classes
When: June 14 - 20, 2009
Where: 1902 South Main Street, Seattle
Admission: $45 - $130/class
Parking: Free parking is available

Since 1976, Pratt Fine Arts Center has offered art classes for everyone and workspace for artists in its equipment-rich facilities in Seattle's Central District. Pratt serves 3,400 students each year and more than 500 working artists use Pratt's affordable studios and equipment.

**# # #